

Osborne & Sons

(SHELLFISH) LTD

The new General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) came into force on the 25th May 2018

and we would like to take this opportunity to advise you of our position with reference to your Data, how it is stored and how we use it.

We do not hold your personal data, only your email address, telephone number, name and company details. These details have been provided by yourselves and are necessary to enable us to keep you informed of legitimate business information between our companies e.g invoices & monthly statements.

The Data is stored securely on our business computers and is password protected.

You Data will be retained for 7 years after termination of our relationship.

We will never sell or transfer our e-mail database to others.

If this is acceptable to you, and you are satisfied you wish to keep receiving emails from us, you need not do anything.

Further information on our privacy policy, please do not hesitate to contact us.
